

SCHOOL HEAD ELECTED BY CANTON BOARD

Marlon Superintendent Tentatively Accepts Appointment

NOTABLE ADVANCEMENT
University Experts' Recommendation Aids Board In Choice

Jesse H. Mason, superintendent of Marion public schools for the last five years, to-day noon was appointed superintendent of the public schools of Canton. The appointment was made at a meeting of the Canton board of education and was unanimous.

Superintendent Mason said this afternoon that he had tentatively accepted the offer of the Canton board. Definite action on Mr. Mason's release from his Marine post will be held up until the board can be got together.

Following the appointment of Mr. Mason by the Canton board, the members congratulated their city on obtaining the services of such a high grade man.

Gets Offer Monday
The offer of the Canton position was presented to Mr. Mason at a meeting of the board here Monday and his tentative acceptance was given by telephone today after consulting members of the local board and friends of the Milton school system.

When this is confirmed by Mr. Mason he made definite he will be immediately made permanent as to which up his affairs here. It is probable he will leave within the next six weeks.

Much larger field in taking the Canton position. Mason is looking into a field that is much larger than Marion. Canton is a city of 115,000 population; there are 37 schools as compared with Marion's 10, there are 20,000 children enrolled in comparison with Marion's 4,000 pupils, and there are approximately 600 teachers in Canton while Marion's faculty consists

The Canton superintendent also enters a financial judgment for Mr. Mason. The contract he has tentatively accepted is for five years with a scale running: $7,500 for the first year, $8,000 for the second and third years, $8,500 for the fourth year and Attention has been attracted to Mr. Munroe's work throughout the state and it has generally been known that he has desired to consider attractive proposals from other cities during his stay in Marion.

It is understood the members of the

THE age-old argument as to whether women dress to please men or to make other women envious, has never been satisfactorily answered. But Rosalie has heard somewhere that men like fringed dresses, and,
striking to prove, she has added
one to her group of evening gowns.
Not having had the opportunity to display the gown to her masculine friends, she has not as yet ascertained the veracity of the statement; but she will probably find that, as with everything else, it all depends on who is wearing it.

WOMEN MOURNERS BARRIED

In accordance with the Scottish custom, by which no women mourners are present, men only attended the funeral recently of ex-Councilor Donald Clark of Hildesborough, England, for his stand against mixed bathing. The only family mourners were his three sons. Clark was buried in the grave of his daughter, whose early death is believed to have brought on the illness which caused his demise.

Great Transcontinental Highway.
From Washington comes the announcement by the federal bureau of public roads of the completion of a great transcontinental highway running 3,341 miles through the heart of the country from the Atlantic at Atlantic City to the Pacific at Astoria, Oregon, where the Columbia flows into the sea.
In the East, the announcement tells us, the highway crosses along the old Indian trails and traders' paths over which sturdy settlers trudged their way in colonial days. In the Middle West, it traverses the rolling prairies and rich agricultural lands of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. Beyond the Missouri, it follows generally the old Oregon trail of the Northwest until it reaches the Columbia river, along which it courses to the sea.
We are told that the new route is composed for the most part of hard surfaced roads, either brick, concrete and bituminous macadam, or oiled gravel. Only twenty-one miles throughout its entire length are unfinished. About one-half of the entire mileage was constructed with federal aid, the funds contributed by the federal government totaling $13,829,056.
"Starting at Atlantic City, one of the most noted pleasure resorts on the North American continent," says a press report of the bureau's announcement, "the highway passes through the fruit country of lower New Jersey, through the city of Philadelphia, on to Gettysburg, where the greatest battle of the civil war was fought, and then over the Allegheny and Blue Ridge mountains to Pittsburgh, following the old Pennsylvania road of pre-revolutionary days."
"After leaving Pittsburgh, the highway touches the borderland of West Virginia, crosses Ohio and Indiana, and covers 171 miles over the state of Illinois, passing through Chicago Heights. The Mississippi is spanned by a toll bridge at Lyons, Iowa, and about 200 miles further along the Missouri is spanned at Omaha. From that point on, the highway crosses river and mountain and desert for another 1,700 miles or more until it reaches the Columbia river. At one point in Wyoming, the road reaches an altitude of 8,300 feet."

Daily Proverb—"Wise men learn more from fools than fools from wise men."

Then again, if we didn't have either army or navy, where would the dear girls get their collections of brass buttons?

A Chicago paper wants all the bootleggers jailed. Wouldn't that be an awful hardship on the "law-abiding best citizens?"

We were not particularly impressed in the report, denied by him, that Benjamin Glitow was kidnapped, but if we ever come upon a notice that he has been transported, we will be bound to sit up and notice the progress the country is making.

"The real danger in our situation," says the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, "lies in the fact that so many people see clearly what they are revolting from and so few see at all what they are revolting to." The Rev. Harry must have had his eye on the La Follette crowd of so-called "Progressives."

No matter what degree of success may be attained by Walter Johnson in the management of the Washington team, both the fans and the players will have the satisfaction of knowing that the management is "on the square."

An American traveler rewarded a German taxi driver, who found and returned to him a grip containing $38,500 in cash, by giving him a tip of $12. Think the way with some Americans. They seem to like delight in making traveling hard for others by the lavishness of their gratuities.

The final day's registration in New York City moved this total up to 2,022,551, over 600,000 in excess of the registrations of four years ago. It is evident that there's going to be a lot of voting in the metropolis next month, but for whom is yet a matter of conjecture.

Almao Somple McPherson says: "I am not going to try to be the demure, quiet school-girl type any more. I am going to be my own natural self." Go to it, Almao. We have been thinking all along that that dash-cro-s-the-desert-in-dancing-pumps Albi was the part of folly.

Pleading for Peace.
Folks everywhere, who long for the days when armed conflicts between nations of the world will be things of the past must have been immensably thrilled when two of the victorious generals of the World War stood upon the same platform at San Antonio and voiced plans for international accord and peace.

Lord Allenby, conqueror of Palestine, and General Pershing, commander of the A. E. F., spoke from their hearts and with a vigor and emphasis which could not be misunderstood by the thousands of veterans within range of their voices. They most heartily endorsed the recently-ratified Kellogg pact for the outlawry of war, but warned their hearers that this great achievement was only one of the steps toward peace, and not an ultimate guaranty.

The words of General Pershing and Lord Allenby should suffice, too, in quieting some of the discord which certain elements here in the United States seek to raise in opposition to the Kellogg pact. When men who were under fire are discerning enough to appreciate what the Kellogg pact means to civilization, their views should be of sufficient strength to quiet ugly rumors which discordant and disgruntled individuals raise.

To those who may think that soldiers pleading for peace is a contradiction, it is only necessary to say that they declared for peace with honor, and that in the meantime nations must be prepared to defend themselves against aggressions from the outside. Lord Allenby made the point clear when he denounced the ancient notion that man must fight. He had only a feeling of horror for the theory that blood-letting was necessary. Surgeons, he said, had long ago abandoned the delusion that there was virtue in blood-letting. In his opinion it was high time nations did the same.

General Pershing told the American legion members that they had duties in times of peace quite as important, if not so dangerous, as those in times of war. Lord Allenby, as the representative of the British legion, said the two organizations could be important factors in the cause of international peace. The war, he reminded his American friends, brought both gains and losses. Some hopes had proved disappointments, but he felt that time would heal many wounds. Patience was a virtue "and we can now see the dispersing of the fogs of misunderstanding and the widening of men's hearts to a knowledge of the real purposes of peace."

Such sentiments at a gathering of those who have been through the flames is one of the gratifying signs of the times.

By the National Geographic Society. The globe shows the location of the new transcontinental highway.

Vigor and Strength.
BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Here is an epigram now to excite thought: "The healthy peasant gets more joy out of life than the sick millionaire."
Thank goodness, we have no peasants in North America. Just we have millions who work with their hands. Most of them, in many ways certainly, are happier than millionaires. There can be no doubt that when they are healthy, they get more joy out of life than any millionaire does who is sick.
Hence it is wisely said, wealth counts to little in the giving of happiness to its possessor. I have known many wealthy men, a considerable number of millionaires. They have worries I should not care to assume. Sometimes these worries make them sick.
Health is fundamental to happiness. I'd rather be a healthy tramp than a dyspeptic, crabbed, irritable, fault-finding, muscle-bound, rheumatic millionaire.
There is no excuse for the man of wealth to have bad health. It requires more that most of them have the good sense to guard their bodies against physical weakness and to order their lives so that fresh air, sunlight and sensible eating shall keep them well. Indeed, unless they do care for their bodies, the opportunities to add to their wealth will be increasingly difficult.
I suppose the author of the pithy saying I quoted had in mind the man of inherited wealth, the pampered son of luxury, the prodigal millionaire. Certainly he can get little joy out of life.
It is a blessed thing that health is within reach of every man, even the peasant of Europe. Health is within reach of most of those who toil in our industries.
If a man keeps his body fit, lives decently, he gets healthy children, sees them grow up in health and vigor, he can feel that God has been good to him. Even though his bank account is limited, with a strong body he has always the hope of better financial days.
I long for a social order that will permit every family to be well housed, well clothed, well fed. Every baby has a right to be born in a decent house. Every family is entitled to some of the luxuries, as well as the necessities of life.
Fundamental to all I regard as worth while is good health. There is no use having a trunk filled with gold, unless the possessor has health. Without health, the gold is no better than dross.
Crime, lawlessness of every sort, discontent, envy, dishonesty, meanness—most of these, all of these, in fact, are prompted by a twisted brain, the result of undernourishment and poor health. A clean, healthy body, with properly acting organs, and brain-clearing purity of blood, will enable the mind to make plans for progress.
Happiness and joy are certainly the handmaids of health. To get up in the morning refreshed and vigorous, with appetite for food and longing for work—this is better than the aching bones of one who has nothing but wealth in cheer his heart.
Let us not worry about the bank account. Let us give thought to a manner of living that will give health. Everything else that is good will be added to this life.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES
J. D. Q.—What can I do to get rid of pimples and blackheads. I am twenty-three years old.

Dinner Stories.
"You did not have time to conclude your speech from the rear platform."
"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "Some hecklers were inclined to filibuster. But the locomotive engine favored closure."

"Why does she assume airs of superior position?" inquired the envious sister.
"Because of her superior fortune," answered the calculating mama. "Under my supervision she has managed to marry one of our most successful bootleggers."

"Are you a wet or a dry?"
"I claim to be strictly temperate in such matters," answered Senator Sorghum. "A person who can take a political policy or let it alone."

"Why are you afraid to have me go up in an airplane, Henrietta?" asked Mr. Meekton.
"You might fall out!"
"But there's the parachute!"
"Parachute, indeed! Why, you can't even remember an umbrella!"

The True Pole Finder.
BY GARNETT P. SERVICE.
"What is a gyro-compass? How does it operate, and where can I see one?"—M. H. New York.

The full explanation of the action of a gyro-compass involves a problem in mathematical physics which has been completely solved, but the solution can not be set forth here. For that you must consult advanced text-books in physics. But perhaps sufficient indications of how this wonderful compass works may be obtained from what follows.

Familiarly speaking, the gyro-compass might be described as a miniature skeleton, with a rotating wheel, or gyroscope, with the axis, to so indicate true north, and kept pointing that way by a force arising from the earth's own rotation. As a kitten imitates the motions of the mother cat, so the little gyro-compass imitates its mother earth, and gets a gravitational cue from her if it let its axis go wandering.

Indications of the forces involved in this strange behavior of the gyro-compass to directional command are to be found in the scientific toy called the gyroscope; in the behavior of a spinning top; in the marvellous—though familiar—performances of a bicycle; and in the celebrated pendulum of Foucault, by which a visual proof of the earth's rotation was first presented for all men to see, to the confusion of the "earth-baiters."

If you take a small, heavily rimmed wheel or disk, with a long axle, and after setting the wheel spinning at high speed, rest one end of the axle on a firm support, the wheel will not fall, but together with its axle will keep up in the air and revolve around the point of support.

What the gyroscope shows is that a rotating body tends to keep its axis of rotation unchanged in direction, illustrated by the earth itself when it keeps its poles pointing the same way in the sky while it revolves around the sun—and also that, if a force is applied to change the direction of the axis of rotation it produces a motion at right angles to the direction of the applied force.

In the gyroscope this force is represented by the attraction of gravitation seeking to draw one end of the axis downward; in the astronomical phenomenon called the precession of the equinoxes it is represented by the attraction of the moon—and the sun—on the equatorial protuberance of the spinning earth; finally, in the gyro-compass it is represented by the "precessional" motion caused by the rotation of the earth.

In this compass, which consists of a wheel spun by an electric motor on its axle, which is free to move only in a horizontal plane is not set in a north-and-south line to begin with, the precessional force of the earth's rotation brings it into that line. If it swings past the line, the same force brings it back again. The gyro-compass is comparably superior to the magnetic compass, first, because it points true north, and next, because it is not disturbed by local peculiarities of the earth's magnetism, or by magnetic or metallic objects surrounding it. You can find out what makes them by inquiring in some nautical instrument shop, where, perhaps, you may see one.

CLEVELAND AND THE SEAWANEE.
On the 27th of this month a monument to Stephen Collins Foster will be dedicated in a forest near Fargo, Georgia, on the bank of the Seawannee river. It will be a fitting tribute to a man who is not enough remembered. Foster wrote and composed "Swanee River," "Old Black Joe," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," and a number of other songs almost equally popular. He was a northern man, a Pennsylvanian by birth, but his songs were of the southland.

Cleveland is particularly interested, for there is adequate evidence that "Swanee River" was written and composed in this city.

Foster was born in 1826, and two years ago it was proposed to honor his centenary in Cleveland by erecting a tablet on the site of an ancient warehouse on West Eleventh street, formerly River street, where the masterpieces which Gullie Curd has called the "greatest of all folk songs" came into existence. Morrison Foster, brother of Stephen Collins Foster, owned the old warehouse, and it is reported that Stephen Collins Foster, while on a protective visit in Cleveland, searched through a dusty attic which he found in the warehouse in an effort to find a southern river with a name suitable for the song which he was composing. And in this old Cleveland attic was hidden the "Swanee River," which Foster dug out like a gold nugget from a pile of mud.

The unveiling of the Foster memorial near the source of the Seawannee river will be the occasion of a big celebration in Georgia, and the city of Cleveland, while on a protective visit in Cleveland, searched through a dusty attic which he found in the warehouse in an effort to find a southern river with a name suitable for the song which he was composing. And in this old Cleveland attic was hidden the "Swanee River," which Foster dug out like a gold nugget from a pile of mud.

Beware of the Moon.
We have had the yellow peril, the red peril and many others, but all of them combined are nothing in comparison with the danger that threatens us from our own moon.

The warning comes from Sir Oliver Lodge. As everybody knows, the earth threw the moon into space some millions of years ago—the exact date is a bit indefinite. But it didn't throw it far enough. If it had hurled what the poets call fair Luna clear out of the solar system, all would have been well except for the inconvenience of an unbroken succession of moonless nights. The earth would have gone on revolving around the sun and the moon would have done its revolving around some other object than the one which gave it its light in the evenings.

But by an unlucky turn of fate the moon was thrown just far enough to enable it to revolve itself by bumping into the earth when it got round and ready. Only a few more million years and this old planet will experience the joys of its life.

Long before this collision occurs, however, there may be a similar one between Mars and his moon. It is to be hoped that astronomers will be on the job when that interesting event takes place, so that we may know just what to expect when our own far comes. The likelihood of that day will doubtless manage to devise gigantic telescopes so that nobody will be seriously injured. And, of course, all the talking movies will reproduce the occurrence both visibly and audibly in their news reels next day.—New York Post.

FEDERAL PLAN FAILS.
Membership in the house of representatives constitutionally is supposed to be apportioned on the basis of population, and membership in the senate likewise constitutionally is provided for, so that by the constitution intended to be the manner of the constitution. The plan was originated by the fathers of the country. It is a fair plan, a right plan; its nullification easily might mean that one could be elected as an unconstitutional occupant of the president's chair.

Congress could get the proper figures for the census bureau would do a little necessary work, in which case the adjustment of representation to suffice laws would become automatic. As has been well said, all that congress need do, and what it is by the constitution commanded to do, is to pass an apportionment bill complying with the provisions of the constitution and recognizing the facts.

It is truth that honesty may not be denied, that equal proportionate representation at present has no existence in fact. It is important to the American people that honest, fair representation be had. Congress refuses to permit this to be done. It is vital to the system of representative government that it be done. Effort in this direction has been made, but finally has been the result.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

New York Day by Day.
BY O. D. MINTYRE.
New York, Oct. 17.—New York has been glorifying the racketeering gangster into the absurd proportions of a popular idol. His silence when caught is ballooned into a code of honor. Every policeman knows the gangster is a scoundrel and a scoundrel to treat the deadly penalty. Give him a straight ticket and he will always tell all. His first thought is to save himself. He never goes to kill alone, but with a pack and he rarely gives his foe the slightest of sporting chances.

The gangster's method of murder is to surround a lone and helpless enemy with automobiles filled with machine guns, slugs, for him and race away. The racketeer also displays his raven cowardice by exacting tribute by threats from small merchants who have been in America scarcely long enough to know the language.

Even the bravest will not go on a killing expedition without priming themselves with drugs and liquor. When one of the gangsters dies with his hands on the funeral becomes a parade of flowers and a mile long parade of carriages.

This mawkish sentimentalism is inspired by fear. Those who fail to send flowers or attend the last rites know they are inviting the underworld frown. The late Frank Yale made those he ruled by terror buy a brand of cigars named for him. They were three-centers selling for twenty cents each.

And the shop-keeper who did not buy regularly soon found his shop shut up and his trade driven away. All through the East, side merchants who are barely able to make a living must buy tickets weekly to "phony benefits," the proceeds of which are spent lavishly on Broadway by these "brave" racketeers.

The merchant who is strongly intrenched and lights back is seldom molested more than once. The racketeer fears a strong and brave man. Once the lesson is learned, the man grows too big and he lifts his head above his mentors, they "take him for a ride."

Gangland has furnished picturesque names for members. Such as Monk Eastman, Kid Twist, Johnny Spanish, Little Augie, Kity, The Horse, The Litwack, Kid Drapper, Midway Louie, Louis the Lump, and Ash Faced Izzy.

Mayor Walker's home, tucked away in the idyllic quiet of St. Luke's place, is in one of the most restful spots in all New York. The mayor's house is No. 6, one of a solid block of similar brick houses with stone steps, basement dining-room and small lawn hedges in front.

The houses face a beautiful playground area, and in front of the mayor's home are the customary mayoralty lamps, and directly opposite is a police booth with a uniformed officer on constant duty. The mayor's neighbors are mostly working men and women with a sprinkling of the artist types of Greenwich Village. He also maintains an apartment uptown.

Telephone exchange, incidentally, is "Walker."

More than 300 hotel awnings were destroyed by fire this summer, due to careless tossers of lighted matches, cigar and cigarette ends out windows. And two gentlemen walked along the streets with their hats smoldering from the same carelessness. It is confusing to find your hat aflame. I can speak freely for I was one of them.

There are some fifty professional tools making a good living along Broadway as race upsters. They maintain offices and furnish a daily service for five dollars a day or $25 a week. Telegrams of their choices for the day are sent shortly before post time. Of course, they had ability to pick winners they would not be conducting tipping bureaus, but some of them have been operating their sucker game for more than twenty-five years.

A stage box is zero in comfort under any circumstances. Due to a late arrival, I was ushered into one the other evening whose sole occupant was an imperious lady with a dog, a cat, a parrot, a lovebird and the dignity of a swan on the placid waters of a lake. I sat covering in mouse-like silence in a darkened corner. Shortly before the curtain fell she turned and inquired sharply: "Alonso, where the hell you been?" She thought I was her husband. I'm unequal to such situations and after a foolish whinnying laugh I sneaked back among the S. M. O. rafters where I was more at home.—Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Way of the World.
BY GROVE PATTERSON.
Mussolini, Italian dictator, has laid down the course that Italy is to follow until 1930. He tells his associates what he is going to do and he doesn't ask them. So long as he gives the strong man of Italy he has succeeded in his one-man rule. The wise manager, however, is always training a successor. He provides for the period when he is away or when he is dead. The test of Mussolini's ability, his organizing power, will come after he has passed on.

Mussolini is not the only man who should provide for the carrying on of the business. Any man in an executive position who can not delegate authority, who can not train up another man to do the job as well or better than he can, lacks real executive and organizing ability. The world does not need eccentric geniuses so much as it needs far-sighted, keen-minded organizing men who build up machines which will run without them. A great executive once said: "I never do anything that another man in my organization can do just as well."

In China the minister of the interior has issued instructions declaring the parents of marriageable girls must not receive more than $150 from the man who proposes. In some cases the amount is to be even less. Heretofore it has been more. The result has been fewer marriages in China and more bachelors because of economic necessity. And to a great bachelor of thirty or forty years of age in China is to be in disgrace.

Americans are different. No American would accept any rule about marriage. That's a matter on which he will accept no rules and little advice.

An old proverb says the mind ought sometimes to be diverted in order that it may return the better to thinking. Not much argument in that for the average American. Most of our day is given over to the diverted rather than to thinking. There are few of us who if we gave more time to quiet and deliberate couldn't at least do better work than we do thinking and less to the kind of hustle and hurry which is mostly false motion.

A man is hopelessly egotistical if he won't listen to advice—but he is worse than that if he takes advice without giving it a great deal of thought and turning it over many times in his mind.

Great Zeppe, as a fresh advance in aviation which will have a profound effect on the business and social life of the world, it was learned today.
The Republican nominee believes aviation by shortening time and distance, promotes commerce and the development of transatlantic connections will bring the peoples of the world closer together and increase world trade. He further believes the development of aviation has brought new problems to the governments of the world and that the test of the German Zeppe, provides a new reason for the necessity of the American government leading the aid to the development of commercial aviation in the United States.

Speaking of American aviation, he recently said: "It brings out the courage of men, stimulates them with the spirit of adventure and it builds time and distance. It brings a lot of new problems to government and the necessity for assistance from the government."

Makes Fat People Slim
New York Physician Perfects Simple and Easy Method of Reducing Weight

Dr. R. Newman, a licensed practicing physician, of 290 Fifth Avenue, New York, announces that he has perfected a treatment which has quickly rid fat people of excess weight. What is more remarkable is the doctor's statement that he has successfully treated thousands of persons for fat reduction without unnecessary change of diet or burdensome exercises. He also says that fat people who suffer from chronic rheumatism, gout, asthma and high blood pressure obtain great relief from the reduction of their superfluous flesh. The doctor has offered to send without charge to anyone who will write him, a free trial treatment to prove his claims, as well as his "fat-reducing" plan. If you want to rid yourself of superfluous fat, write him today, addressing Dr. R. Newman, 290 Fifth Avenue, New York City, Dept. 11.—Ad.

Works on Address
The Republican nominee, Mr. Hoover, continued to work upon his New York address, to be delivered next Monday night at Madison Square Garden. He will experience a strenuous day on his visit to New York City as Republican leaders of the Empire State have arranged a heavy program of engagements for him.

The nominee will arrive there at 8 a. m., going immediately to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, which will be his headquarters during his stay. After a noon conference at 12 o'clock, Hoover will meet delegates of various racial groups. The Republican organization leaders will call on him at 12:30 o'clock, and then he will attend a luncheon given by Charles D. Hays, the Republican national committeeman. Then, he will rest until 4 o'clock, when he meets delegates of the Republican Service League organizations of the state. He will attend a private dinner and speak at 6 o'clock in the garden.

Seeks Industry's Support
As announced last week Hoover will discuss the relationship of government to business and their mutual problems. He has touched on this subject frequently since the campaign opened but his New York address will be his major bid for the support of organized industry. Vice President Charles G. Dawes will take the stump for the first time during Hoover's visit to New York. Dawes will speak at the Hoover store at 10 East 45th st., at 6 o'clock, and then appear upon the speaker's platform with Hoover at the great Republican rally that night. Dawes will then go on an eastern tour for Hoover.

Charles Evans Hughes, standard-bearer in 1916 and a "big gun" in the Republican offensive, meanwhile will take the stump for Hoover on a western tour. Hughes will speak first in St. Joseph, Mo., on Oct. 23, going then to Chicago for a speech the next night. His later dates included Buffalo, on Oct. 26; Worcester, Mass., Oct. 29; and Brooklyn, Nov. 1.

Voices might be "cultivated" for talking as well as singing. Hoover's run heard of persons speaking in a "cultivated voice?"

A Philosopher and A President Agree
Over 2,000 years ago a philosopher remarked, "No one has a good market for bad merchandise," which agrees with a statement once made by former President Wilson that, "you cannot sell a thing that is not as represented without the customer finding it out."
That is why we don't carry "seconds" or cheap, shoddy goods. It wouldn't pay to deceive our customers. We promise them, "quality—always at a saving" and we believe that Quality alone decides whether a price is economical.

LEADING the North Central Ohio League with two games won and no defeats, Coach Hughes' team and the eleven of Harding will have a rest of two weeks before entering the tough action of their busy schedule.

Harding has called its first two teams of the league and a week from Saturday will take on Bucyrus and the following week Mansfield. The season will get here Nov. 17 with the first game on the local list.

Mansfield is at the present time the only team in the league that has not yet played a game. It will play its first game on Saturday at Gallion.

With two games out of the way, the Harding outlook is not what one would call exactly bright. The team has been handicapped for this reason by injuries but has been able to pull through with a clean slate in league games.

IN OHIO STATE BACKFIELD

NEW LACON and 'Amiller once meet the fans who take their foot ball in Ohio State. Back from last year's competition are Lincoln Corb at fullback Byron Eby, star fullback Art Hinton half back, and Howard Kris who carried the famous pass that won the Ohio game last fall.

After a year's absence from school Hinton, Hardy Kris, and Hinton return once more to the team.

Three sophomores have been showing exceptional promise in the backfield. Allen Holman at fullback is a fullback who has been getting the call at the pivot position because of the heavy number in which he runs. The second Dick Hinton is a running back with his excellent kicking, his well at either quarter or half.

Herb Stein is anticipated putting his regular on the field against Bucyrus on Oct. 27. The last of this week and will give his injured players a chance to recover.

The Mansfield fray the following week will be a tough one for Harding and is down on the schedule as the biggest game of the season. When the two teams meet, each team will have a chance to show its mettle.

In case the Red and Black should fight through these games with nothing worse than a draw, the final of Shelby looks ahead to block local hopes. It is usually just one such game that keeps Harding out of a pennant.

Gridiron Briefs

CAMBRIDGE Mass., Oct. 17—Harvard was to drill in defense against the Army game on Saturday. Playing straight football the team scored four touchdowns against the scrubs yesterday.

WEST POINT, Oct. 17—Defense against the forward pass continues to be Army's outstanding weakness. The scrubs using the aerial attack, scored on the regulars yesterday.

NEW HAVEN Conn., Oct. 17—A short scrimmage was scheduled for the Yale variety this afternoon. Practice in kicking and passing is featuring the preparation for the Brown game.

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 17—Captain 'Dutch' Miller Link Ulrich and Butcher regular on the Wittenberg football squad are out of uniform due to injuries received in last Saturday's game with Ohio Wesleyan.

At least three weeks with a badly twisted knee it is thought and physicians declare it should not participate any more this year. Other members on the hospital list will probably be ready for the game with Marshall college here Saturday.

OXFORD, Oct. 17—Harry Champ Richardson, Cleveland senior who has been playing an end on Miami team has been declared out of eligibility for the remainder of his college career because of a leg injury received in the Denison game last Saturday. It was learned here today Richardson is also a basketball star and his loss will be a blow to his red team this year.

Cincinnati, Oct. 17—St. Xavier college gridders laid off for the day Saturday and have started practice this week in preparation for the tilt with Oglethorpe here Saturday. Dave Harrison, Muskegon center has been unable to practice with the squad for the past few days because of an injured foot. Punting duties will be divided by Kenny Schaeffer and Frank Slotersky. Frank McVitt will do the goal kicking for the team.

NEW CONCORD, Oct. 17—Miss Hagan's undefeated gridders will match their prowess with the forces of Denison tomorrow at the annual homecoming celebration. A gridiron classic of the first order is promised the thousands of alumni and fans who will throng New Concord for the big day. Driscoll who upset everything from the dope bucket or down last Saturday and turned Miami back 21 to 0 is heralded as the fastest driving eleven in a number of years of gridiron history. The Muskegon team is well conditioned from its first three games of the season but will be forced to the limit to stay the big day.

DELAWARE, Oct. 17—Coach George Gault's gridders, who scored only 71 points in defeating Mount St. Joseph Saturday, so the 'little giant' of Ohio football is making the team this week. New plays upon which the Ohio Wesleyan team is now working are the first new ones which they have had in more than a year. Incidentally the Gridders used the same plays in defeating Michigan 17 to 7 this fall as they used when beat by the Wolverines 33 to 0 the year before. Gault's team will journey to Oxford this Saturday to take on the big grid which has in Denison last week and the job should not be so big or hard.

MORE bad news to follow and to worry back to Syracuse for Stein makes the succeeding four straight tackles single handed with less than a total of 10 yards gain for the position—and so the ball goes to Pittsburgh. Here then is probably a record for consecutive tackles made by one man in a tough match. Game Stein made one tackle for every 10 yards on his team and then one for himself—11 in all.

Army and Navy Games To Be Resumed in Two Years

NEW YORK Oct. 17—In Army and Navy football game either in New York or Philadelphia, by 1930.

This prediction was being freely stated by men in both branches of the service today, even in the face of the fact that official schedules for next year have been announced and that the Army's major opponents for 1930 have been spoken for and with dissatisfaction on the existing state of armed neutrality on the two fronts has reached a point they say, where even the diehards of the controversy are admitting a break that will start something that really can be finished.

Commander Jonas Ingram, athletic officer at Annapolis will go on sea duty in the line of official formality next year. This is generally conceded to be the break in question. An unofficially in the Army Navy rivalry from the first Ingram's departure will remove an influence that steadily has refused to condone the discrepancy in eligibility standards at the two schools. His successor it is expected will be more open to suggestion on this subject. It is unnecessary to mention that such an attitude will have the support of every Navy man the world over and will force the Army personnel as well.

The Ingram dynasty, as a matter of fact might seem to be loitering on its throne. In the face of even congressional mediation Jonas has stood sponsor for an attitude which many Navy men probably subscribed in theory to practice the stand has proved unpopular because it resulted in the elimination of an opponent that represented the ultimate in antagonism. The birds of a feather in this connection of course roost entirely with the Navy since it took and maintained the initiative in the severance of relations.

Meanwhile Navy Bill Ingram has been taking the rap for a football team which to date has played three and has scored not even once. The Navy, an unyielding taskmaster with its football coaches largely because your Naval officer is a man of two major interests duty and football, has blamed Navy Bill's coaching in part and the remainder on the fact that the Army is not on the schedule this year. They maintain that the lack of an Army contest has taken all of the punch out of the situation at Annapolis.

Conflicts that have been made for 1930 of course cannot be abrogated or altered with a snap of the thumb and forefinger. Neither can one jump at will game that have been arranged for 1930. But there always is open that first Saturday in December the original date of the Army Navy game and besides few college opponents would care to stand in the way of a resumption if they could avoid doing so. It means too much to the country at large and to the health of football in general.

There is no such thing as absolute perfection. Even the mildest beauty has to be a light for her cigarette.

STATE TRAFFIC BUREAU PREFER DARKER COLORS
Washington—State traffic officials prefer brunettes, as far as automobile license plates are concerned, The American Automobile Association declared after a study of the 1929 list of colors.

Twenty-three different color schemes will be used by the thirty-state states which change the color of their plates this year, according to the association. Nine states and the District of Columbia will retain last year's colors.

Although the association does not pretend to account for the apparent discrimination against blond types in the new crop of license tags, it declares there is a definite trend toward the glossy beauty of the dark type.

Yellow letters and numerals on a black background will predominate during the coming year, six states have adopted orange numerals on blue goes to the five states which have adopted orange numerals on a black field. Four states will use white on black and four white on green.

OSAGE INDIANS DRINK LESS AND PLAY BETTER
Arkansas City, Kan.—The little plied golf ball has done what no amount of preaching has been able to do—it has made the Osage braves quit drinking the "fire water" of their pole faced brothers.

It isn't that the Osages have not the thirst for liquor that they once had nor that some enthusiasts of the golf game has decreed against it that they have reformed. It was all because they, themselves, discovered drinking interfered with their game that they have gotten aboard "the wagon."

Too many elbows, hooks, lost balls, and missing of short putts, hours of resistance to every golfer, were the prompting arguments for quitting liquor.

The rivalry is keen among the young and old braves and their squawie allies as they follow the winged flight of the little ball over the hills where their forefathers chased buffaloes.

AIR MAIL MILEAGE IN U. S. TAKES BIG LEAP
Chicago—Although much of this country's commercial air transport development has come in the last 18 months the miles of airways operated on the twenty-fifth anniversary of flight is substantially larger than the miles of track in use on the quarter century anniversary of the railroad, according to a report just made public by the American Air Transport Association.

This year, just twenty-five years after the first, short, historic airplane flight, there are 33,311 miles of airways operating, while the railroads in the first quarter of a century listed only 9,021 miles.

Postoffice officials expect substantial additions to this air mail mileage next year.

ARREST TWO MEN IN TONG SLAYING

Laundryman Slain as War Spreads to Boston; Ask Protection

Chicago, Oct. 17—An outbreak of the Chinese Tong war here, which claimed one man, a laundryman, as its first victim, resulted in the arrest of two Chinese today.

With the spread of this action, the Tong battles, which started in Philadelphia and which swept from coast to coast, three Chinese reported they had been marked for death.

In Lynn, Mass., laundryman, appealed to police for protection.

The Chinese arrested today for last night's Chicago killing were Ling Yee and Harry See. They were charged with murder in the first degree. The white wife of one of them pleaded in vain for the release of her husband. The pair had been tried by a jury on an automobile license plate. They were identified by Lee Soom, 18, nephew of the slain laundryman and who witnessed the killing.

DENY WAR
However, Chicago Laundryman Is Fined Upon

Chicago, Oct. 17—Yes, there is no Tong war—but there was death in three bullets.

Despite protests to police by leaders of the On Soong and Hip Sing Tong that "there is no Tong war," Ongen Seto, owner of a laundry, to-day owes his life to poor marksmanship of the mobbers at Chicago.

While at work late last night in his laundry and shop were fired at him. He didn't believe a moment and escaped through a rear door. He would give police no information to help them run down his assailants.

Deputy Commissioner of Police Stephen J. Connelley, 29 leader of the On Soong and Hip Sing Tong, who claimed death in the so-called Tong war here would mean they would run down his assailants.

Unequaled for Value . . . in the field of low-priced sixes

New Chrysler—designed "Silver-Dome" high-compression engine, using any grade gasoline.

New smoothness and quietness of operation at every speed.

New performance brilliancy, flashing getaway, astonishing power and pickup with marked economy of gas and oil.

New-type rubber insulation of engine, new-type invar-steel pistons, new-type crankcase ventilator, etc.

New-type 4-wheel hydraulic internal brakes with moulded brake lining, giving instant and squeakless stopping in any weather.

New slender-profile radiator, new bowl-type lamps, with beautiful cowl lamps and cowl bar, all chromium plated.

New riding qualities from long resilient springs and hydraulic shock absorbers, front and rear.

New roominess in the long low-hung bodies, seating five adults with a surplus of comfort.

New richness of interior appointments, with high-grade mohair for closed cars and genuine leather, plaid grain, for open models.

New arched window silhouette, new air-wing fenders, new charming color combinations.

The greater value afforded by the new De Soto Six has been instantly recognized and generously rewarded. Its heritage of Chrysler standardized quality in point of style, beauty and comfort is apparent at first glance—and a ride reveals performance abilities never before attained in six-cylinder cars of comparable price.
